Miscellaneous.

BEAT YE! HAIL YE! Hear Ye!

The subscriber having taken the agency for the sale of Burdick and Bartlett's Grecian Chelcough Oil Polish, is now prepared to furnish the article to store keepers of manufacturer's prices.

This article is composed of neat's foot oil and Gutta Percha, acting as a preserver of leather as well as polish. An article of this kind has long been needed, as every one knows that common blacking will not polish oil over grease.

The attention of livery stable keepers, and those keeping carriages and harnesses, is invited to this article, as it is unsurpassed for the purpose of cleaning carriage tops, harnesses, etc. It is put up in large size boxes, convenient for the use of livery stable keepers, and also smaller sizes for the use of every body who wish to purchase the best blacking in the market.

SOLOMON T. HUBBARD,
Wholesale & Retail agent, sl2 Cor. Washington Sq. and Thames st.

UNDERTAKERS.

GOPPINS and other funeral experts.— The subscribers have on hand and will make at short notice collars of every description of wood and finish; also oblongs, trimmings, &c., and if desired they will support funeral arrangements and furnish all articles connected with and used on these mournful occasions.

They have also a method of preserving a corpse for any desirable length of time, until friends and relatives can arrive from Europe or distant parts of our own country.

If required they can give the best of references
as to their mode of attending to matters of this kind.

Orders for the whole or part of these arrangements are solicited, and will be promptly executed, with the utmost regard for the feelings of those concerned.

NEW MAP OF NEWPORT.—The subscriber has now nearly ready for publication an entirely new map of Newport Township, including a large part of Middlepton, Showing all the Island South of Coddington Cove, and from Castle Hill on the West, to South Point on the East. The whole made from recent surveys, hitherto unpublished it will be the only typographical map of the Township yet made, and is of sufficient size to allow the position of every house to be indicated, and the names given of all the land holders without the limits of the City.

The copy prepared for engraving, is now ready for inspection and corrections, as it is my wish to make it much neater on next map than any yet issued.

The price $5. The size about 36x41 inches.
Subscriptions will be received at 123 Thames street by CHAS. E. HAMMETT Jr.

LADIES' DELIGHT.

RELIEF COME AT LAST.
J. WISNER'S Washing Machine, Patented Sept. 26th, 1854, is a large tub with zinc fitted on the bottom, also on the underside of the rubber. It stands on stool, and weighs about 25 lbs.; is simple and handy and has been thoroughly examined and tried and was offered to the public. It has been tested sufficiently long to prove that when it has been used properly, it will tell a better story for itself than can communicate.
Give it a trial, and you will be entirely satisfied of its superior merit.

The Electors of Rhode Island.

The electors of Rhode Island, without regard to past political differences, who are opposed to the present Federal Administration, and in favor of the platform of principles adopted by the Philadelphia Convention, June 17th, 1860, are requested to elect delegates from their several cities and towns, equal in number to their representation in both branches of the General Assembly, to a Convention to be held at the State House in Providence, on Wednesday, the 4th day of January, 1860, at 11 o'clock, a.m., for the purpose of nominating a ticket of State officers; and also for the purpose of electing delegates from this State to the National Republican Convention of 1860, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before them.

It is recommended that the city and town committees assemble the primary meetings by 6 P.M. in accordance therewith.

Manufacture of Coal Oil.

The Springfield Republican publishes a letter from an Ohio correspondent, on coal oil or Kerosene, and we make the following extracts therefrom:

The oil is not made from bituminous coal, strictly so called, but from the cannel or cannel coal. It is well known that there are three kinds of coal; the anthracite, cannel and, bituminous coals. The oil is made from cannel coal. The coal is intermediate in hardness between the other two, and burns with a clear, white flame, like a candle, and hence its name. There are various qualities of this coal, as well as of other coals. It is hard, and breaks with a conoidal fracture, at least the best of it does.

This coal is found all over the vast coal field of the Ohio river valley. The best that I know of is found on the waters of the Big Kanawha river, in the vicinity of Charleston, in the county of Kanawha, Va. The veins of it are here about six feet in thickness, and can be worked to almost any extent. There are found three veins of an inferior cannel coal in Ohio, either separate or mixed in with the bituminous coal; but these veins are thin in comparison with those on the waters of the Big Kanawha.

It is said that the oil may be made from bituminous coal, but not in as large quantities. When I was at Marietta, in October, I learned from Professor Andrews, of Marietta college, that he and an assistant were experimenting with bituminous coal upon its adaptation for the production of the oil; what his success may be I do not know.

The quantity that can be made here in this Ohio river coal field is unlimited, and as yet the demand is wholly beyond the production. It is used for a lubricating oil, as well as for burning. Candles are also made out of the hard portions of it, though I do not think they give as brilliant a light as the star candle made from lard; but they are sold so much cheaper that they will come into general use for ordinary lights, where candles are preferable to the lamp.

The cost of the oil at present is here one dollar and twenty cents per gallon; last year at this time, it was sold at eighty cents per gallon. Its cost must be lower than any other material for light, where gas cannot be had, even at present prices; but these present prices are exorbitant when compared with the actual cost of its manufacture. I am told that it can be made from the coal on the Kanawha river, at a cost of thirty cents per gallon; indeed, I have heard estimates even below this. One gallon of it is more than equal to two gallons of the best sperm oil; I have tried both. This being the case, no other material can compete with it, and its use must, therefore, become general. That there is a great profit made on it at present, is clear from the fact that it is made in Boston and New York out of cannel coal imported from England.

New York capital is looking up these Kanawha coal banks, and in a few years there will grow up an interest in that region in the coal oil manufacture, which will astonish the country. It can probably be made there cheaper than any where else, and in quantities to which there can be no limit. There are also innumerable localities in Ohio where the coal may be found; but no where is such thick veins as on the Big Kanawha river. There is some dispute still as to its use for lubricating purposes; some engineers preferring it to other oils, while others do not. I believe it will come into general use for this purpose ultimately; its great cheapness in comparison with other oils, will secure this result.

In a conversation with a gentleman from New York city, he told me that it would be ultimately used as fuel on ocean steamers. If it can be, the saving in room for freight will be enormous, and supplies of fuel for long voyages can be carried, when coal could not be. I believe its cost will be brought down so low as to justify this prediction. The gentleman told me that such was the opinion of commanders of ocean steamers. The crude oil creates an intense heat in its combustion, and hence its use for fuel is a mere question of economy.

The crude oil is separated into three grades; the burning oil, the lubricating, and paraffine; this last is hard as beeswax and is made into candles. Used for fuel, for ocean steamers, it will be in its crude state. This manufacture is in its infancy, but its future is immense—almost without limits. Just as whale oil is becoming scarce, and lard rising in value, the coal oil is found as a cheap substitute for both lights and lubrication.

This Ohio river coal field is to become the field for its production; and by it is a new value given to the exhaustless quantities of coal here found. What with its iron and coal, with their new uses, this coal field, is to become the centre of production and population for the Union; its future no one can measure, but it looks up in a boundless enlargement and growth. This coal field lies on both sides of the Ohio, with a breadth of 130 miles.

IS COMING.—It will be seen by advertisement in another column, that Prof. Grimes, who has been lecturing for upwards of fifty consecutive nights in Providence, to the acceptance of the good people there, lectures in Narragansett Hall this and to-morrow evening. The following is one of a series of Resolutions which speak more in his praise than anything further we can say:

Resolved, That Mr. Grimes has one confidence and best wishes for his success, in balancing delusion and falsehood, and that we can recommend him to the public as a gentleman uncommonly frank and fearless in his vindication of the Bible and Christianity, against the teachings of Spiritualism, and uncommonly able and skillful in presenting physiological science in its relations to the nervous system.

YESTERDAY morning was a cold morning; thermometers varying from nine below up to zero. A gentleman of this city who has a reliable glass—Mr. Zenus Hammond—and who has for years kept a valuable record of the weather, informs us that by his glass there has been but one morning as cold for two winters. January 10th last, at sunrise, the mercury indicated 2 above and remained about that through the day, falling at sunset to zero—a very cold day. January 11th, mercury stood at 4 1/2 above, but on the morning of the 12th it fell to 4 below, which was the coldest of the winter. At the time of writing this, 2 P.
